"Published by Shimer College in April, July, October, December. Entered January 20, 1954 at Mount Carroll, Illinois, as second class re-entry under the authority of the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of August 4, 1947."

VOLUME 50

APRIL, 1958

NUMBER 1

Editor, (MRS.) JESSIE MANGRUM

DEAR ALUMS:

This is a report of some of the annual meetings that your National Alumni Association has sponsored.

In the Chicago area we have sponsored two annual events — a winter luncheon and a summer tea. Both of these events were well attended. The summer tea was held in the Alpha Delta House at 5747 University Avenue. The winter luncheon was held in the Georgian Room at Carson Pirie and Scott Company.

Mrs. Ruth Easterbrook Kilbourn (1889) has offered her garden for this coming summer's tea.

The California alumni sponsored a tea in August and a luncheon in November of last year.

In the Iowa area a tea was held at the Blackhawk Hotel in Davenport in September. Plans are being made for a group meeting in the fall in the Cedar Rapids area.

Martha Sawyer Huckbody ('49) reported that the Shimer Milwaukee area group had held a winter meeting and was busy with plans for a spring meeting.

The Washington D.C. area has not been heard from as of this date but will probably have something to report before the next issue of the RECORD.

The annual meeting and election of alumni association officers will be held on the Shimer campus Convocation Weekend. Plans for entertaining the visiting alumni have been made. Notice the program for Saturday and Sunday.

Sincerely,

VIRGINIA CROGHAN

President

National Alumni Association

● As the mercury has risen, the number of sidewalk superintendents has increased at the construction project on the southeast corner of the Quadrangle. Visitors to the building site will note that all the footings of the structure, which will provide housing for male students next fall, have been poured, and concrete work on the ground floor is already under way.

Other visible signs of progress on the campus may be noted at Hathaway Hall, on the east side of the quadrangle. Built in 1905, Hathaway formerly served as a dormitory for men. No longer suitable for residence purposes, the upper floors of the building now provide classrooms and offices for members of the instructional staff. The room set aside for religious purposes is now located in Hathaway Hall.

CURRICULUM EXPANSION

The teacher training curriculum at Shimer will be expanded next fall to include programs for prospective teachers of music, art, speech, and physical education.

Music and the visual arts are now an integral part of Shimer's general education program, and courses in theory and methods will be added to the curriculum to meet the needs of prospective teachers in these areas.

Physical education facilities at Shimer include a well-equipped gymnasium, tennis courts, golf course, and swimming pool. Besides the usual activities, prospective teachers of physical education will be offered courses in anatomy, physiology, and kinesiology, as well as those in the administration of health, athletic, and recreational programs.

To round out Shimer's teacher training program, courses will be added in the principles of public speaking and voice training and the principles of play production for students who wish to teach speech or administer dramatics programs on the high school level. Ample facilities for theatrical productions exist on the Shimer campus, and stage productions sponsored by the Green Curtain Club have been one of the most popular extra-curricular activities at the College. It is anticipated that speech students will participate extensively in campus debate and dramatics activities.

Dr. Mullin stated "The Shimer program of teacher training not only qualifies a student for teacher certification at the high school level, it also provides him with one of the finest possible backgrounds in general education and gives him intensive training in one or more areas in which he will be well qualified to teach. Because of the expressed needs of high schools for teachers, Shimer will make available some thirty Future Teacher Scholarships to encourage qualified young men and women to train for the teaching profession.

TELEVISION SERIES

A unique television series has been presented by Shimer students and faculty members during the current academic year. Originating in the studios of WREX-TV (Channel 13), Rockford, every fourth Monday, the various programs have won praises for their educational value and the liveliness of their execution. They have presented stimulating factual knowledge while delineating Shimer's approach to education.

The first program of the series was "Perspectives on Sputnik," a panel discussion of the problems raised by the launching of an earth satellite. Views of the scientist, David W. Weiser, and the humanist and social scientist, John Hirschfield and D. E. McBride, faculty members, were expressed. Student opinions were stated by Janet Gibstein, and Redd Griffin.

The panel agreed that the satellite did not reveal scientific truths but merely demonstrated those which Newton postulated centuries ago.

"Art Appreciation" was the second program of the TV series. Mr. Ben Kneale, Art Instructor, conducted the discussion of the interpretation of the different art projects. The projects were selected on differences of approach and each student interpreted his own work for the TV audience. Three kinds of art — decorative, illustrative, and interpretative — were displayed by students Pat Long, Ron Millard, and James Tse. Creative and interpretative Art which are emphasized in the Shimer Art Laboratory were given a prominent place on the program.

"Mutation and Radiation" was a program discussing mutation and animal life and the effects which radiation has upon it. Dr. Edward Colin, geneticist, and George Cossman of the physical science staff represented the Shimer faculty. They were joined in the discussion by students J. D. Cohen, Gib Akin, Suzanne Boram, and Beatrice Hill.

This was an excellent example of the learning process as practiced at Shimer and the subject lent itself well to TV treatment. Members of the group pointed out that radiation can cause mutations, that most mutations are harmful and that they may not become noticeable until several generations have passed.

The last TV program was "Creative Music." Mrs. Helen Dixon and Richard Hensel of the music staff and John Hirschfield of the humanities department led the discussion. Original musical compositions of Shimer students were presented. A madrigal by Rosalind Conklin was sung by Anita VanTellingen, and a modern, twelve-tone piece was played by the composer, Betsey Sellner.

Those who were viewing the programs could see that the discussions were still going on, for, "Discussions at Shimer are never finished . . . the process of inquiry and debate continues in the student lounges, at the dinner table, in the residence halls . . . Young minds are stimulated by the Shimer atmosphere to ask new questions and seek fresh answers."

● David W. Weiser, dean of faculty, has been chosen by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to participate in that organization's leadership training project. Young college administrators who are considered to have high potential for leadership in the field of higher education have been selected to take part in the program.

The schedule of the leadership project includes visits to the campuses of several colleges and universities where participants inspect academic programs and administrative procedures.

RABIES STUDY

None of the 190 animals processed to date at Shimer College, headquarters of a rabies study being conducted by the Illinois Natural History Survey, has been found to be infected with the rabies virus, according to B. J. Verts, mammalogist in charge.

The rabies study will continue for three years, and now that the weather is moderating, trapping activities will be stepped up. The 190 mammals examined for rabies include: 12 opossum, 92 shrews, two moles, 25 raccoons, three foxes, 49 bats, one deer, one house cat, four minks, and one weasel.

While investigating the incidence of rabies among the carnivores of this area, Verts and his assistants are gathering other important data, also. All field mice taken are turned over to the Illinois Natural History Survey, where research is done on the pesky chigger, an arachnid carried by mice. Pelts of the animals are examined for fleas, a pest of interest to economic entomologists working with the survey. Reproductive information is being collected, too, on the raccoon and the rabbit.

Each mammal brought to the laboratory on the campus is weighed and measured, and its reproductive capacity at the time of its death is also noted. For rabies testing, a piece of the brain is removed, placed in a preservative and refrigerated before shipment.

Animals taken alive are humanely destroyed, and a blood sample is taken to determine whether the animal has had contact with the rabies virus. Even though the animal may not have developed rabies, it may have antibodies in its blood indicating contact with the dreaded virus. The blood samples are also used by other research people who are working on such diseases as hog cholera and leptospirosis. Any unusual aspect of an animal, such as parasitic infestation or enlarged organs, is noted and the specimen is given further study.

The annual Luncheon of Chicago area alumni was held on March 22, in the Georgian Room of Carson, Pirie and Scott. A very entertaining program included a dramatic reading of T.S. Eliot's "MacCaffery" by Miss Susanne Boram, Shimer student; a "few words" by President F. J. Mullin; recognition of members of Shimer faculty and staff; and recognition of the oldest alumna, Ruth Easterbrook Kilbourn (1889).

The guest speaker was Dean David W. Weiser who spoke on "Fragments of Student Life on Campus." The majority of his comments were taken from the newly organized campus newspaper which, in its life span of 8 issues, has covered the pro's and con's of practically every event that has taken place on campus as well as quite a number of "mere thoughts."

Miss Janet Lippincott, National Alumni Association Treasurer, served as toastmistress. The speaker's table consisted of Miss A. Beth Hostetter, President F. J. Mullin; Mr. and Mrs. Bell; Bruce Cushna, Vice President, National Alumni Association; and Miss Susanne

Boram as well as Miss Lippincott and Dean Weiser. Other representatives of the College were Mrs. Bernice Dennis; Miss Natalie Dupius; Miss Virginia Croghan, President-National Alumni Association; Miss Baxter; and Mrs. Jessie Mangrum. Alumni and friends present at the luncheon were:

Martha was elected President; Mary Stephens Bench ('49), Vice President and Program Chairman; Nancy Stewart ('49), Secretary-Treasurer. A luncheon is planned for May and a picnic for the summer.

Miss Zella Corbett ('10) is retiring from the Mt. Carroll High School at the close of the school year. She began her teaching career in 1912 and has been teaching in Mt. Carroll for the past 37 years.

She has been active in numerous organizations and has always participated in the various educational activities of the area. She was a trustee of Shimer for several years and has served as president of the Northwest Division of the Illinois Education association. At present she is vice president of the Mt. Carroll branch of the A.A.U.W., a member of the D.A.R., Mt. Carroll Community Club, Wa-Tan-Ye and chapter GA of P.E.O.

In dedicating the year-book of 1957 to Miss Corbett, the seniors of the Mt. Carroll High School paid a great tribute to her in the following inscription: "For cheery smiles and happy ways that you have shared with us — For the knowledge and true scholarship that you have brought to the classroom — For the endless patience and sympathetic understanding of us and our problems — For the inspiration that you have given your students through excellent advice — We thank you, and it gives us pleasure to dedicate the 1957 Waukarusa to you, Miss Zella Corbett."

Zella Corbett and Martha Green Sawyer were the first graduates of Frances Shimer Junior College in 1910.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Taking a leaf from one of their psychology textbooks, wherein it is pointed out that the best way to destroy an idea is to make it appear ridiculous, Shimer students proceeded to burlesque the Soviet Union and Communism in having an U.S.S.R. week, the last week in January.

The College quadrangle became red square. Metcalf Hall, where the deans hold sway, became the Kremlin. And the snow-covered golf course became Siberia, the banishing point for non-conforming students.

When the "commissars," Alan Dowty of Manson, Iowa, and Redd Griffin of River Forest, Illinois, decreed absolute segregation of the sexes and banned the use of cosmetics, it was a foregone conclusion that a counter revolution would soon break out. The successful feminists installed Nancy Gordon, Chicago, as prime minister; however, unrest continued as the people's voices clamored for the return of democracy.

The satire culminated in the Red Star Ball at the Grill Friday evening. As the festivities were about to get under way, the democratic forces achieved victory, and as Anastasia (Louise Spitzborg, Reading, Pa.) was crowned, the news of America's successful satellite launching was announced.

One student, John Keohane, Mt. Carroll, Ill., summed the week up by saying, "We've had fun spoofing the Sputnik-proud Russians, and we have achieved a greater appreciation of democracy."

NEW MEMBER OF THE BOARD

John Clinton Youle, known to millions as Clint Youle, TV weatherman, has accepted an appointment to the board of trustees of Shimer College.

Youle's weather shows and news commentaries are regular features of NBC. He is a graduate of Wheaton College and is Vice President of the Executive Club of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Youle reside in Wayne, Illinois, and they have three children: Jessica, Susan, and four-month old John Clinton, Jr.

In taking on further extra curricular duties as a college trustee, Youle said, "Doubtless it is because I have realized, in my various undertakings, the importance of general education, that I am looking forward with so much enthusiasm to serving on the Shimer board. I am a meteorologist, true, but I majored in English as an undergraduate. It was my liberal education background which enabled me to seize the opportunities afforded me. I am glad to be associated with a college such as Shimer, which places emphasis upon general education, demanding that each student dig deep in the sciences, the arts, and the social sciences before specializing in a particular field."

WESTMINSTER CHOIR IN FEBRUARY CONCERT

Shimer College had as its guest on February 16, the famed Westminster Choir. The tour of the choir marks the thirty-fifth consecutive season that this distinguished group has appeared under the direction of its founder, John Finley Williamson. The choir, which has twice toured Europe, had just completed its first tour of Asiatic countries.

Westminster Choir, which is familiar to many because of its frequent television appearances, was first organized to serve as a volunteer choir of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dayton, Ohio. Though the choir retains the name it had in its affiliation with this church, it is no longer a church choir but a touring concert unit of Westminster Choir College of Princeton, New Jersey. Williamson, who founded the choir, is also founder and president of Westminster Choir College. Recognized as one of today's outstanding authorities on choral techniques, he is also credited with being a pioneer in the development of American choral singing.

The Westminster Choir Concert in Mt. Carroll offered numbers of interest to every type of musical taste, ranging all the way from the major classics by such composers as Palestrina and Bach to representative works by modern composers and a great many examples of popular folk music.

Another of Shimer's featured Concert Series programs was the recital of Mrs. Helen Dixon. Mrs. Dixon is a member of the Shimer faculty teaching piano and the theory and history of music. Mrs. Dixon's selections were by Bach, Beethoven, Liszt, Brahms, Debussy, and Schumann.

Student J. A. Caparros, critic for the campus newspaper, Quest, had the following to say "There is no doubt that the concert was excellent . . . She is excellent when it comes to crescendos and diminuendos; they are so well done that M. Rossini would be proud of her . . . We heard Schoenberg in all his harshness speak to us; it was a truly great musical experience . . . The Intermezzos and the Rhapsody showed so much sensitivity and deep comprehension of the music that it was a spiritual adventure, a "soaring" of the spirit."

DECEASED

Ruth Miles Miller ('19) passed away on October 14, 1957, in Denver, Colorado. Her death is a personal loss to all who knew her.

Mrs. William E. Goodman (wife of trustee from 1928-'45) died December 5, 1957, and services were held in the Hyde Park Church in Chicago. She is survived by her husband, William, a daughter, son, and father.
